Victorstone Property Consultants

Lettings Negotiator

A client-facing role in a leading Property Consultant company in Central London. Worked in a fast-paced environment, which helped me develop organization skills, working under pressure and meeting deadlines and objectives. My role included a lot of face-to-face, email and phone communication, selling and negotiating and closing deals.

During my time with the company, my managers and I decided that in order to generate more sales we need to cover later hours and I was the only person that was given the responsibility to work alone in an afternoon-evening time slot without supervision. We achieved 1st position in negotiated deals in our area (City of London, East London) on more than one occasion.
